1. How This Campaign Works

The Still Hour is not played as a line of separate scenarios. It is played as one night, lived over and over.

- A loop is one continuous play-through of the night across the shared Ambergrove map. The Hourglass (the Occultation clock, Hours I–IX) is the master timer for the whole loop.
- You travel between districts during the loop. Each district is a set-piece with things to learn and do. You will only reach 2–3 districts before time runs out.
- When the Hourglass reaches Hour IX — The Appointed Hour, or when every investigator is defeated, or when Dissonance hits 18, the loop resets (read the loop's resolution, §4). The board wipes and everyone is healed — but Memory, the Knowledge Track, Dissonance's scar, and Years all carry forward.
- Between loops you play an interlude (§4): age the investigators, bank Memory, buy Recollections.
- You are trying to learn enough of the night (the Knowledge Track) to reach and survive The Last Hour — knowing that every loop costs you years.

The board persists within a loop. You are living one relentless night; damage, resources, and cards in play do not reset when you travel between districts. The reset is your only breather — and your only checkpoint.

Acts are progression gates, not separate scenarios:

- Act I — Learning the Rules (roughly loops 1–3): only surface objectives are available. The Appointed is a pressure at the edge of the night — its Approach still climbs with the clock, but its Whisper cards are not yet in the deck.
- Act II — The Shape of the Hour (once 3+ surface facts are known): deep objectives open; the Whisper cards enter the encounter deck; the night starts pushing back.
- The Last Hour (once "The Way the Night Breaks" is known): the finale may be attempted.

2. Campaign Special Rules (in play order)

Setup each loop.

1. Set the Hourglass to Hour I. Arrange the Occultation deck (Hours I–IX) in order, applying every Knowledge edit currently flagged on the log.
2. Set Dissonance to the scar floor = number of completed loops so far, maximum 6.
3. Build the chaos bag for the current Dissonance band (Calm 0–5, Glitch 6–11, Noticed 12–17; add [static] tokens per band).
4. Build the encounter deck: the shared spine + the node sets of any districts you intend to visit + (Act II onward) the Whispers. Set the Appointed aside at Unseen — it manifests only as its Approach advances.
5. Place all investigators at The Square. Return any Memory on cards to its owner (Memory carries as banked, not on cards, between loops).

Memory. Tokens earned during the loop sit on cards; at the interlude they bank. Banked Memory is capped at 18 at the start of each loop (6 × investigators). Spent as experience: Recollections at their listed cost, and card level-ups at 1 Memory per level. Two distinct pools — on-card (in-scenario fuel) and banked (campaign currency) — are always named explicitly.

Dissonance. Shared track, 0–18. Rises when you act on foreknowledge (playing Recollections, foreknowledge abilities, and certain encounter cards). Entering the Glitch band (6) drives the Appointed's Approach to at least Sensed; entering Noticed (12) drives it to Arrived; at 18 the loop resets. It only falls via specific cards.

The Hourglass & the Occultation. The clock advances ~1 Hour of its own accord each round, plus any Skip effects (including travel between districts, which costs 1 Hour). Each Hour reached resolves its Occultation effect in order.

Knowledge Track. Facts are unlocked by completing district objectives (never bought). Flagged facts permanently edit the night — Hours, locations, the encounter deck, and the finale (§7).

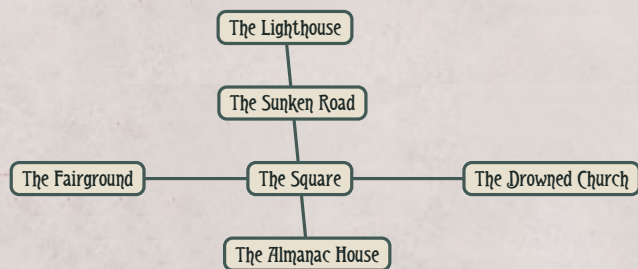

Aging. At each interlude every investigator gains Years: +1 base, +1 if defeated that loop, +1 if the loop ended at Dissonance 12+, +1 if they leaned on the loop (raised Dissonance 3+ times or spent 4+ Memory). Brackets: Prime 0–4, Weathered 5–9, Elder 10–14, Ancient 15+, each with its drift. At 18 Years an investigator ages out.

Echoes & the Appointed. Echoes are Sleepwalking in the Calm band and wake in Glitch+. The Appointed climbs an Approach (Unseen → Sensed → Emerging → Arrived), driven up by the clock (Hours V/VII/VIII) and the Dissonance bands. It cannot be defeated — only Held Back, pushing it back one stage and rewinding the Hourglass an Hour.

The Named (Victory). Some districts field a Named Elite in Act II, guarding a deep objective. Defeating one records its name on the log and banks its Victory X Memory — once per campaign per name. They return every loop like everything else in Ambergrove; only the first lesson pays.

3. The Ambergrove Map

A small inland town under a starless, snagged sky. The Square is the hub; travel along a connection costs 1 Hour (a Skip).

- The Square connects to: the Fairground, the Drowned Church, the Almanac House, the Sunken Road.
- The Sunken Road connects the Square to the Lighthouse.
- Each district is a cluster of 2–4 locations, revealed when you first enter it that loop.

4. The Interlude Procedure (run after every reset)

Loop resolutions (read first)

A loop ends the moment one of its three endings happens. Read the matching resolution, checked top to bottom (use the first that qualifies), then run the interlude below. Nothing here changes the reset itself: the board wipes, and Memory, the Knowledge Track, Dissonance's scar and Years carry forward as always.

R2 — The Seam Tears (Dissonance reached 18).

You leaned on what you remembered until the night could feel the weight. Every clock in Ambergrove stops on the same wrong second. The sky does not fold this time — it splits, and you fall back through the gap to eleven o'clock, bleeding time.

- The loop ended in danger: each investigator's +1 Year for Dissonance 12+ applies (§2, Aging).
- On the log, mark this loop Torn.
- If this is the second or later Torn loop, read instead of the usual interlude beat: The town has learned your shape. Strangers at the fair stop mid-laugh when you pass, and do not know why.

No resolution — The Night Keeps You (every investigator was defeated).

The dark finishes what it started. For a long moment there is nothing — no Square, no bell, no salt. Then the lanterns are being lit again, and you are standing where you always stand, and your hands will not stop shaking.

- Each investigator gains the +1 Year for being defeated (§2, Aging).
- On the log, mark this loop Taken.
- If this is the second or later Taken loop, read instead of the usual interlude beat: You have died in this town more times than you can hold in your head at once. Each of you keeps one of those deaths close, like a stone in a pocket, and it is heavier every time.

R1 — The Appointed Hour (the Hourglass reached Hour IX).

The occultation completes on time, exactly as the almanac promised. Something reaches through the edgeless dark — and, again, does not finish reaching. The night folds along its old crease. Eleven o'clock. Salt. The lanterns.

- Nothing extra: the ordinary reset.
- On the log, mark this loop Closed at the Hour.
- If you learned at least one new Knowledge fact this loop, add to the usual interlude beat: It is the first night that felt like progress. You hold on to that. If you learned none, add: Another night spent. The town did not notice you at all, which is its own kind of warning.

(The Prologue has its own resolutions, §5. The Finale's resolutions are in §9.)

1. Age. Each investigator adds their Years for the loop just ended. Apply any bracket change now (choose the locked physical/mental skills the first time you enter Weathered). Any investigator reaching 18 Years ages out.
2. Bank Memory. Move all on-card Memory to banked Memory. Reduce banked Memory to 18 if higher (you can't hold more of the night than that).
3. Spend. Spend banked Memory as experience, from the shared pool: buy Recollections (at their listed Memory cost) and/or level up eligible cards (at 1 Memory per card level, respecting each investigator's deckbuilding access). Upgraded variants replace their base.

4. Record. Update Dissonance's scar (= loops completed, max 6), the Knowledge Track, the dead, and any choice flags.
5. Read the interlude beat for the current Act (below), then begin the next loop at §2 setup.

Interlude beats (narrative):

- After Loop 1: You wake at First Dark with the taste of salt and the certainty you have done this before. The others feel it too. No one in Ambergrove will believe you.
- Entering Act II (3+ surface facts): The town has begun to notice that you notice. Somewhere past the edge of the Square, something that has been waiting politely decides to stop waiting.
- Before the Finale: You know the shape of the night now. You know what it costs to end it. The only question left is who pays.

5. Prologue – The First Hour

The almanac promised the occultation at midnight. It is eleven, and the sky is already wrong — the stars sliding behind something that has no edge. You came to Ambergrove for your own reasons. You will not remember why, soon. You will remember everything else.

Note. The Prologue can't be "lost" — its job is to teach Memory carry-over and the reset. Whether you gather the clues or run out of time, you loop. Clever play just banks the clues as understanding (a small bonus Memory if you finished the objective: +1).

Teaching scenario. Linear. Ends in a scripted first reset.

Setup. Place three locations in a row: The Square, The Long Pier, The Almanac Steps. Investigators begin at the Square. Hourglass at Hour I. Dissonance 0. Encounter deck: shared spine only (no Whispers, no Appointed). Chaos bag: Calm band.

Locations.

- The Square — shroud 1, 2 clues. "Everyone is out for the occultation. None of them will look at you twice — not this time, not ever."
- The Long Pier — shroud 2, 2 clues.
- The Almanac Steps — shroud 2, 3 clues. Objective location.

Objective. Gather 5 clues total, then an investigator at the Almanac Steps may resolve the Occultation (no test). When they do, read the ending. If the Hourglass reaches Hour IX first, read the ending anyway.

Resolutions — "The First Reset." The Prologue always ends in the first reset; how it ends decides one small reward. Check top to bottom:

R1 — You Saw It Coming (an investigator resolved the Occultation at the Almanac Steps).

You were standing on the right step at the right second. You watched the occultation complete, and you watched something reach through — and not finish reaching. When the night folds, you fold with it on purpose, and you keep more of it.

- Each investigator gains 2 banked Memory (their first), and the party gains +1 more banked Memory (you finished the objective).

R2 — It Caught You Unready (the Hourglass reached Hour IX first, or every investigator was defeated).

The occultation completes. Something reaches through — and does not finish reaching. The night folds. You are standing in the Square again at eleven o'clock, salt on your tongue, and you are the only ones who feel the seam.

- Each investigator gains 2 banked Memory (their first).

Either resolution:

- Record the fact "You Are Unstuck" on the log (Act I begins).
- No Years are gained from the Prologue. Proceed to the first interlude, then Loop 1.

6. The Six Districts

Each district has a surface objective (Act I) and a deep objective (Act II, available only after the district's surface fact is known and Act II has begun). Each grants a Knowledge fact. Each adds a small node encounter set to the deck when you intend to visit it.

6.1 The Lighthouse

Elias's lighthouse. The lamp is dark. It has never, in any loop, been lit — and Elias cannot remember why he didn't light it.

Locations. The Lantern Room (shroud 3, 2 clues) · The Winding Stair (shroud 2, 1 clue) · The Keeper's Quarters (shroud 2, 2 clues). Node set (2): The Dark That Waits (treachery, horror at the Lantern Room) ×1; Something on the Stair (Echo enemy, low stats, Sleepwalking) ×1.

Surface objective — "light the lamp." Discover 4 clues across the district, then test ☞ or ☛ (3) at the Lantern Room to light the lamp. → Unlock "The Lamp Was Never Lit." Edit: while the lamp is lit this loop, Echoes at connected districts stay Sleepwalking one band longer (light holds the town still). Permanent: the Lighthouse's Lantern Room flips to its calmer back for all future loops.

Deep objective — "the ninth death." (Act II) With the lamp lit, search the Keeper's Quarters (2 clues) for the keeper's logbook. Elias reads his own handwriting recording eight prior deaths. → Unlock "The Keeper's Ninth Death" (Elias thread). Edit: Elias's elder-sign heal also removes 1 horror. Finale: enables the Break Through resolution to save all investigators rather than one.

6.2 The Drowned Church

The bell tolled thirteen times at the first occultation. It should toll twelve. The thirteenth is the sound the night is stuck on.

Locations. The Nave (shroud 2, 3 clues) · The Belfry (shroud 3, 2 clues) · The Flooded Crypt (shroud 4, 3 clues — sealed until a fact opens it) · The Vestry (shroud 2, 2 clues). Node set (3): The Congregation Kneels (Drowned Choir Echo) ×1; Thirteen (treachery: Skip +1 and raise Dissonance 1 if at the Church) ×1; Rising Water (treachery: a location gains shroud +1 for the round) ×1.

Surface objective — "why thirteen?" Discover 6 clues, then read the register in the Vestry. → Unlock "The Thirteenth Toll." Edit (already printed on Hour III): the Church no longer adds its extra +1 Dissonance at the Toll.

Deep objective — "the hour was wrong." (Act II) With the Toll known, the Flooded Crypt opens. Recover the drowned almanac-page (3 clues in the Crypt). → Unlock "The Hour Was Wrong." Edit: Hour IV — The Road Gives Way — is removed from the Occultation deck for all future loops. This is among the most valuable facts in the campaign (it stops the mid-loop road collapse forever).

6.3 The Sunken Road

The road between the town and the shore. The same figures walk it every loop, in the same direction, never arriving. Some of them turn to look at you now.

Locations. The Milestones (shroud 1, 2 clues) · The Low Bridge (shroud 3, 2 clues) · The Turning (shroud 2, 3 clues). Node set (2): Those Who Walk (Waiting Congregation Echo) ×1; The Bridge Remembers (treachery: if you cross the Low Bridge this round, Skip +1) ×1.

Surface objective — "walk it backward." Move through all three locations in reverse of the Echoes' direction (Turning → Bridge → Milestones), discovering at least 1 clue at each. → Unlock "The Road Remembers." Edit: travel to/from the Lighthouse via the Sunken Road costs 0 Hours once per loop (you know the shortcut).

Deep objective — "who walks beside you." (Act II) At the Turning, evade or Hold an awakened Echo and read the face beneath the hood. → Unlock "Who Walks Beside You" (the Echoes are the town's earlier loopers, worn to nothing). Edit: Echoes get -1 Fight against investigators who have this fact (you know how to speak to them). Finale: softens the Take Its Place ending.

6.4 The Square (Town Hall)

The hub of the night. The sheriff stands on the Town Hall steps giving the same speech to the same crowd. He has been dead since ten o'clock. No one has noticed but you.

Locations. The Town Hall Steps (shroud 2, 2 clues) · The Records Office (shroud 3, 3 clues) · The Well (shroud 2, 2 clues). (The Square is always the loop's start location.) Node set (2): The Same Speech (treachery: Peril, horror scaling with loops completed) ×1; The Crowd Turns (treachery: each Echo in play readies) ×1.

Surface objective — "the sheriff is already dead." Discover 5 clues, then examine the body at the Well. → Unlock "The Sheriff Is Already Dead." Edit: the Town Hall Steps flip to a back that lets you draw the top Occultation card once per loop (the records let you read the night ahead) — synergizes with Seraphine/Ayako.

Deep objective — "the vote that never ends." (Act II) In the Records Office, find the ledger showing the town voted to open the door. → Unlock "The Vote That Never Ends" + advances Seraphine's thread ("Who Opened the Door"). Edit: reveals that ending the loop cleanly requires a cost the town agreed to pay — foreshadows the finale's price. Finale: required input for Close the Door.

6.5 The Fairground

The occultation fair, mid-celebration, forever. The wheel turns. The ticket-taker smiles at you like he's been expecting you for a very long time.

Locations. The Wheel (shroud 3, 2 clues) · The Hall of Mirrors (shroud 2, 3 clues) · The Ticket Booth (shroud 2, 2 clues). Node set (2): The Wheel's Turn (treachery: Skip +1, but each investigator gains 1 resource) ×1; Your Reflection Lies (treachery: Hall of Mirrors, horror + a [static] token) ×1.

Surface objective — "the wheel still turns." Ride the Wheel: an investigator at the Wheel tests  (3); on success, discover 2 clues from a height (you see the whole town at once). → Unlock "The Wheel Still Turns." Edit: once per loop, from the Wheel, you may look at the top 2 encounter cards and reorder them.

Deep objective — "the ticket-taker's bargain." (Act II) Speak with the ticket-taker at the Booth; he offers a way to end the night that is not free. → Unlock "The Ticket-Taker's Bargain" (the Faustian thread). Finale: unlocks the Let It In, On Your Terms resolution — but flags the log that the bargain was heard (affects the epilogue tone).

6.6 The Almanac House

Where the wrong almanac was printed. Ayako has read every book in it a hundred times. In one loop she found a page that was not there in the others.

Locations. The Reading Room (shroud 2, 2 clues) · The Press (shroud 3, 3 clues) · The Sealed Study (shroud 4, 3 clues — opens with a fact). Node set (3): The Page That Wasn't (treachery: Ayako-relevant; horror scaling with banked Memory) ×1; Ink Runs Backward (treachery: cancel a clue discovery this round) ×1; The Study Door (treachery: while the Study is sealed, adds a [static]) ×1.

Surface objective — "what the almanac hid." Discover 6 clues, then set the Press to reprint the true occultation time. → Unlock "What the Almanac Hid." Edit (printed on Hour VI): at the Wrong Sky, investigators remove a [static] instead of adding one.

Deep objective — "the appointed's name." (Act II, requires "What the Almanac Hid" + "The Vote That Never Ends") The Sealed Study opens. Inside is the name the town spoke to call the thing through. → Unlock "The Appointed's Name" + completes "Who Opened the Door" (Seraphine's thread). Edit (printed on Hour VII): the Appointed arrives exhausted. Finale: required input for every resolution except The Loop Wins; naming it is what makes the crossing contestable.

Assembling the finale. When you know "The Appointed's Name," "The Vote That Never Ends," and any one other deep fact, unlock "The Way the Night Breaks." The finale may now be attempted.

8. Act Transitions

- Act I → Act II triggers at the interlude after you hold 3+ surface facts (or after completing Loop 3, whichever comes first). From the next loop: deep objectives open, and the Whisper cards enter the encounter deck. (The Appointed's Approach runs in every Act — see §2.)
- The Last Hour becomes attemptable once "The Way the Night Breaks" is known. You may keep looping to prepare (banking Memory, buying Recollections, and — knowingly — aging) or attempt it.

9. Finale – The Last Hour

You have lived this night more times than you can hold. You know the toll, the road, the wrong sky, the name. You know what the town agreed to — an appointment made in ink and never kept. All that's left is to keep it — and to decide what you're willing to spend.

Attempting the finale. During any loop after "The Way the Night Breaks" is known, an investigator who reaches the Almanac House Sealed Study may declare The Last Hour (or it triggers automatically if you let the Hourglass reach Hour IX while the fact is known).

Setup. The Appointed's Approach advances immediately to Arrived, manifesting at the location farthest from the investigators if it was not already on the board. Dissonance does not reset. Play proceeds under a single objective: contest the crossing — accumulate "contest" progress equal to 4 × investigators (12 at three players) by Holding Back the Appointed, spending Knowledge, and reaching the Study, before the Hourglass reaches Hour IX. Each Hold Back success and each deep fact spent adds 1 contest progress.

Resolution generator. When the finale ends (contest reached, or Hour IX, or all defeated), read the resolution matched by the campaign log, checked top to bottom (use the first that qualifies):

R1 – Take Its Place

If: Contest reached and an Ancient investigator is present

One Ancient becomes the night's new anchor — kept behind, decades older, so the loop ends for everyone else. The town wakes for the first time in a hundred years. (Softened if "Who Walks Beside You" is known.)

R1b – Let It In, On Your Terms

If: Contest reached and you know The Ticket-Taker's Bargain and banked Memory ≥ 12 (may be declined)

The door opens on your terms; banked Memory drops to 0 and everyone present ages +2 Years. (Added in the content pass — CONTENT_DECISIONS D17.)

R2 – Close the Door

If: Contest reached and you know The Vote That Never Ends + The Appointed's Name

You pay the price the town agreed to and never paid: everyone present ages +3 Years at once, and the door closes. The cleanest true ending — bought with years.

R3 – Break Through

If: Contest reached and The Keeper's Ninth Death is known

You force the night open and all survivors escape — but the loop is only paused. Bittersweet epilogue: was it really ended?

R4 – Seal by Force

If: Contest reached (no special facts)

The door is sealed but not closed; one investigator (chosen) ages out doing it.

R5 – Next Time

If: Not reached, but banked Memory ≥ 12

The loop wins tonight — but you wake at First Dark closer than ever. Begin a new loop; the finale may be re-attempted.

R6 – The Loop Wins

If: Not reached, banked Memory < 12

The night takes you. The campaign ends. The town keeps repeating — and somewhere on the Sunken Road, walking the same direction and never arriving, there are new faces beneath the hoods.

Note. Every "contest reached" branch is a win with a different cost, and the cost is always age or an investigator kept behind. R5 makes even failure a soft continue as long as you've been remembering. R6 is the only true loss, reserved for a party that never banked the night.

10. Difficulty & Scaling

- 3 investigators (baseline): all constants as printed (Dissonance 12/18, soft cap 18, contest 12, scar cap 6).
- 1–2 or 4 investigators: Dissonance thresholds 4× / 6× investigators; Memory soft cap 6× investigators; contest 4× investigators; scar cap = one-third of the reset threshold. Standalone Standard/Hard chaos-bag presets ship with the token spec.
- Campaign length: tuned for ~6–8 loops; clean play arrives at the finale ~Weathered, typical ~Elder. Shortening the campaign = raise district clue counts (fewer loops to unlock facts); lengthening = the reverse.

Campaign Notes

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue or grey ruling lines, typical of notebook paper. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There is no handwriting or other markings on the paper.
